ANXIOUS DAYS JUST NOW FOR THE OWNERS OF YEARLINGS.

Development of High-Priced Youngsters Two-Year-Olds - Gravesend's Stakes.

This is the time of the year when millionaire turfmen and other owners who have large strings of yearlings in their barns are anxiously waiting for the chance to see their youngsters in early races next year. The young colts and fillies who will soon become two-year-olds have all been nominated for the various stakes to be run at the metrothe various stakes to be run at the metropolitan timeba next season. Most of them have shown fast work in their trials and their owners consequently are very hopeful. But there are so many uncertainties about two-year-olds that no definite results can be looked for. In fact, the purchase of yearlings is one of the fascinating features of racing, because it involves a lettery. Few turfmen can resist the temptation of buying a yearling colt with royal blood coursing through his veins, especially if his engagethrough his veins, especially if his engagements include the Futurity, Double Event, Junior Champion Stakes, Matron Stakes, Flatbush Stakes, National Stallion Stakes and other rich events.

Millionaires in late years have been particularly attracted by the yearling sales. It has grown to be a sort of fad among them to pick out youngsters on their own judg-ment, have them trained and then possibly vin some big stake much to their own credit. But the expense involved is enormous. The prices for yearlings because of the eagerness away up into the clouds. The conservative turfman, however, looks on in wonderment. He knows the ropes and can tell many a story about the ups and downs of this yearling business. He can show how some of the best-bred youngsters who in their infancy might have given every promise of developing into sterling thoroughbreds have gone wrong through the winter and have amounted othing. Then again he can demonstrate yearlings purchased for practically nothing by some owners of limited means have grown into magnificent two-year-olds, capable, perhaps, of carrying off the Futurity.

The absorbing interest in next year's twoyear-old stakes and the consequent developn local barns is further evidence that the aged division is not on the increase, but rather is on the sharp decline. The argu-ment has often been set terth that the un-bounded interest in two-year-olds and the articularly arduous campaign through which these young racers must pass each year has served of late years to kill off the older horses so that of the latter class to-day the really good ones can be numbered on the fingers of one hand. It is also a point at issue that there is too much sprinting and not enough long-distance racing that the two-year-old sprints prevent the youngsters from amounting to anything in after years. from amounting to anything in after years, especially in being able to travel over a route. Many turfmen are gradually coming around to the belief that the two-year-old campaign begins entirely too early and that there should be more attention paid by the owners and racetrack promoters to the three-year-old stakes and the big spring handicaps. It is also an opinion that long-distance racing must be encouraged because of its intense popularity. Already the several racing associtions here have displayed a tendency to increase the attractiveness of the long-distance events, but they are making the two-year-old events even more important than they were last year when they virtually monopolized the public mind and predominated at all the tracks. Those who are opposed to the strenuousness of the two-year-old campaign point to the general absence of good three-year-olds each year and the singular collabse of the best of the two-year-olds as soon as they have finished their stake engagements. It is a fact that the fields sent to the post for the big spring handicaps the last two or three years have been of inferior quality. In fact have been growing worse in point of merit and racing worth each year. Yet there has been no effort to remedy the matter at all.

The Sun has already mentioned the closing of the big stakes to be run for at Saratoga, Morris Park, Sheepshead Bay and Brighton Beach, and to complete the list the Brooklyn Jockey Club stakes to be run at Gravesend next spring, which close on Jan 5 are appended.

In four there were ties for the net prize and in the others the players were usually only a stroke apart at the finish. The turnout of players was very satisfactory, 106 starting in the fall handicap at the Lakewood tourna-

It is within the power of each club to make its own handicap regulations, but, as the custom has grown up to permit the survivors at match play to also return medalplay cores, the opinion seems to be that the M. G. A., rather than any single club, should take the initiative in framing new conditions. A suggestion from the M. G. A. Handicap Committee when sending out the general bandicap in April would be sufficient to change the custom should the delegates agree at the annual meeting that to do so would be for the greater good of the game.

A glance over the season's records will make plain how often the match play survivors have won out in the handicaps, to the discomfiture of those who have been put out earlier and the host of "week-end" golfers. who on account of their business and prowho on account of their business and pro-fessional enjoyments are able to air their clubs only on Saturdays. of the first of the metal for the Cup defender the past week sets a good pace for the launching of the craft in April next. A sufficient amount of the metal of both kinds is now at the shops to keep things relative to the framing and plating booming steadily for many weeks.

Of the finest quality obtainable, the Tobin bronze plates received so far look as though they had been subjected to a polish before being sent from the mills. Of a thickness of a quarter of an inch, the first batch of plating will be used on the garboard and adjoining strakes of the new craft. Thinner plates will be brought into use in sheathing the sides of the lead keel and in the region about the bilges. The framing received is of the most substantial variety, in plain angles, the widths being an inch and a quarter. Some of their will serve for midship frames in connection with the longitudinal framing, which is the same style followed in building the Constitution.

When the steel angle bars came the work of fastening the bronze keel plate on the lead ballast had progressed so well that almost every one of the lag screws had been most every one of the lag screws had been and the bending of the framing material to the proper curves were commenced as soon as the material was received at the shops.

The trial spin of the first of the new sloops of the 30-foot class that are to race at Bar Harbor next season demonstrated the fact that the boat had too much ballast, giving her more than the necessary stiffness. To remedy this it has been decided to cut off about 1,000 pounds of lead from the keel, which, it is thought, will not only give her easier heeling qualities, but will also bring her up out of the water somewhat.

RIDERS REST AFTER LONG RACE

LEANDER, THE WINNER, UP EARLY AND TINKERING WHEELS.

Galvin, Floyd Krebs and Newkirk Are in Bad Shape-Strain Tells Severely on the Trainers-Franz Krebs Thought to Be Already on His Honeymoon. After the grind was over on Saturday night, most of the riders who had participated in the six-day race hied them with their trainers to a Turkish bath. A place not far from the Garden found the main bunch asleep there at noon vesterday, and in the afternoon they congregated at the Putnam House. Galvin, who was one of the riders who was in pretty poor shape, remained at a Turkish bath until 5 o'clock in the evening and then went to bed at the Putnam House. George Leander, the winner, intended to go to the baths, but changed his mind and was given a hot bath at the hotel. He enter-tained friends after his bath till 230 o'clock in the morning before going to bed, but he was up and eating breakfast at 8:30 o'clock vesterday morning. After that he went over to the Garden with a sweater on and tinkered with his wheels for two hours. He looked sleek and plump and happy, but felt a little "rocky," because of the quantity of wine he drank before going to bed. His partner, Floyd Krebs, who was in poor shape, was doctored all night by Bobby Thompson, the trainer, to get the "dope" out of him, and yesterday morning he went home to Newark. In many cases the trainers have a harder time of it than the contestants, for the riders are rubbed and bathed and fed and cared for so that they never have to think for themselves, while the trainers do not have time to take care of themselves. After the finish on Saturday night Frank Cadwell, who was handling the Bedell brothers, dropped in a faint at the training quarters beside the track. He had only four hours' sleep during the week and was suffering from exhaustion. He was carried across to the hotel and put to bed. A. B. Stone, the pac.-making rider, who was a trainer in the camp of McFarland and Maya, also was in a bad way. He had just three hours' sleep during the week, but he was up and about yesterday. Bobby Thompson, trainer an pugilist, had charge of Leander and Krebs and he and his assistants have a large share in the credit for winning the race. Bobby had an ergigement to fight in Philadelphia on last Taursday, but postponed it till this week score per per on the since how to the control of th end if the latter had not jumped a second too soon.

A remark that Peterson was a good partner brought the quick reply from the Irishman:
"Yes, good to make me work"
Peterson was not around the lobby yesterday, but was said to be all right. Barclay and Franz Krebbs, the tail-enders, also were missing. They live in Brooklyn and went home Saturday night. It is supposed that Krebs got married Saturday night. When the final sprints were being ridden the little German and his sweetheart stood by the track with their arms about one another and declared that they would be married before morning.

declared that they would be married below morning.

Root and Galvin and Sammy Sulkins, one of their handlers, were wearing borrowed clothing yesterday. The only street clothes they brought with them were given to a boy on Saturday afternoon to take to a tailor to be pressed. The boy has not returned. Newkirk and Jacobson are going to ride home trainers at a New York vaudeville house this week.

The men will receive the prize money at the Bartholdi Hotel at 12 o'clock to-day.

New York Yacht Club May Establish Station

at Cape May. CAPE MAY, Dec. 14.—The members of the New York Yacht Club have become interested in the proposed waterway improvements about Cape May and in the establishment of a deep-water harbor inside of Cold Spring Inlet, and Capt. Barr and a landscape gardener will come to Cape May, probably this week. will come to Cape May, probably this week, to look over the ground. Within the past year a syndicate, in which are said to be George Gould of New York and Henry C. Frick of Pittsburg and in which the known managers are ex-Senator William Flinn and Pcter Shields of Pittsburg, has purchased four miles of the beach front north of Cape May City and a large territory inland for the purpose of development.

They propose to build a harbor back of their ocean-front property one and one half milestong and 60 feet deep, and have the promises of several members of the New Jorsey, New York and Pennsylvania members of Congress to aid them in securing an appropriation to deepen the channel of the inlet. The members of the New York Yacht Club are signing the petition, and want to establish a station here if the improvements are made.

English Bantamweight Champion Here. Andrew Yokell, the bantamweight champion of England, and his manager, Jimmy Kelly, an ex-knight of the ring, arrived yes-terday on the St. Paul. Both are here for business and Kelly said he was willing to match his charge against any 112 or 116-pound man in America.

BIG DOINGS THIS WEEK!

For the next few days we promise our clients a series of winners that will bring rich returns the corps of clockers in our employ at the Crescent City raccourse have located several "sleepers" wilch have improved so much in their form since the last time they started that the public will overlook their chances entirely when next they face the barrier. If you are not already enrolled as a subscriber to our unequalled service you should become one at once and partake of the profits that will fall to our clients by. ALPACA, 4 TO I, Second.

That was the horse whose work had been so good as to make our experts believe they had a sure winner on Saturday. He was left practicely at the post. At times "good things" go astray, and this was one of those times. Benmora, a horse whose work had been of the most ordinary kind, got off running, led his field the entire journey and won by three lengths. Alpace was much the best of the rest of the stariers, finishing five lengths ahead of the third horse.

The one-horse daily plays made with the commissions of our hundreds of chents on the New Orleans meeting, which began Thanksgiving Day, are as follows:

CROSS-COUNTRY RUNNING.

St. George A. C. Juniors Defeat Queen and Jersey Athletes-Rough Going in the Snow. Despite the blanket of snow which enveloped Staten Island yesterday, the six-mile cross country race between the St. George A. C. Juniors, the Queen A. C. and the Jersey A. C. took place. Eighteen sparsely clad athletes turned up at the start, six men being qualified to run for each club, and from the word go until the boys crossed the finish line it was the toughest sort of a contest. Falls were frequent and at every turn the runners sprawled into snowbanks and every one of the dozen and a half exhibited barked shins and other marks of contact with the frozen ground. For about five miles of the course the pack was well bunched, but straightening for home Weyl and Phillips of the Jersey A. C. singled out from the lot and raced abreast. The pace was a hot one, so hot that before the line was reached Phillips dropped from sheer exhaustion and Weyl won, his time being 49 minutes 20 seconds. Phillips, however, scrambled to his feet and managed to creep in second. Juddman of the St. George A. C was third: J. Curtis, Queen A. C., fourth: C Raymond, St. George A. C., fifth and T. Maher Jersey City sixth. The team prize was won by the St. George A. C., with 39 points, the Queen A. C. was second with 71 points and the Jersey A C. last with a total of 75 points.

The judges at the finish were T. G. Thomas, the Jersey A. C. last with a total of 75 points. The judges at the finish were T. G. Thomas, E. O'Donnell and H. Moore.

A good crowd of cross-country men gathered at the Mohawk A. C. headquarters, 15sth street and Waiton avenue, for the usual weekly spin. The appearance of the surrounding country and the biting wind were by no means what would induce a man to divest himself of his fiannels and take chances on pneumonia, so when the starting hour arrived only four runners turned out. They were M. Spring and L. Mark, Pastime A. C.; Burt Michel and "Paddy" Meyers of the Mohawk A. C. About two dozen others were contented to hug the big stove in the club house and watch the antics of the runners through the windows. Meyers is only about 17 years of age, but he has plenty of backbone. When the quartette dashed away he led until, facing Jerome avenue, he silipped and ploughed head foremost into a snowbank. This caused him a momentary setback and the others got about two hundred yards of an advantage. But the irrepressible "Paddy" regained his pins after a while and pegged away hotfoot after the others. Spring was in the lead, as closely followed by the others, they made the snow fly along Jerome avenue. Men and women who were out sleighing and wrapped in furs a foot thick gasped at the bare-limbed runners as they tore along. At 169th street, Spring turned and ran along to Girard avenue. There the snow was knee deep, but the runners continued without a hait. They had a straight stretch of snow back to the club house and Spring was first in, his time being 14 minutes for the two and a half miles. Marks was second, Michael third and Meyers last. On account of Magistrate Flainmer giving an honorable discharge to Oelhfiglager, the runner arrested by Policeman Sheridan a week ago, the albletes fear no further trouble from the authorities. I was a first of the store overed was about six miles and the going was wretched. The journey occupied 42 minutes. J. Sedelmeyer was first, J. Bowen second, D. Mage, third, and Ben Haff f E. O'Donnell and H. Moore.
